Byrnes Charges 'Deal' For Rights in Balkans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—James E. Byrnes opened the lid a bit further tonight on charges that the Roosevelt-Churchill correspondence to show that the British agreed in 1944 to let Russia have "a largely preponderant voice" in Romania and Bulgaria.

In return, his evidence showed, Britain was to "have the freedom to save Greece."

Byrnes, former secretary of state, dug into the Roosevelt-Churchill files to reply to criticism from the British foreign office of his new book "Speaking Frankly."

A foreign office spokesman said in London yesterday that Byrnes was "incorrect" in stating that Britain and Russia agreed to set up spheres of influence in the Balkans, with Greece in the British orbit and Romania in the Soviet orbit.

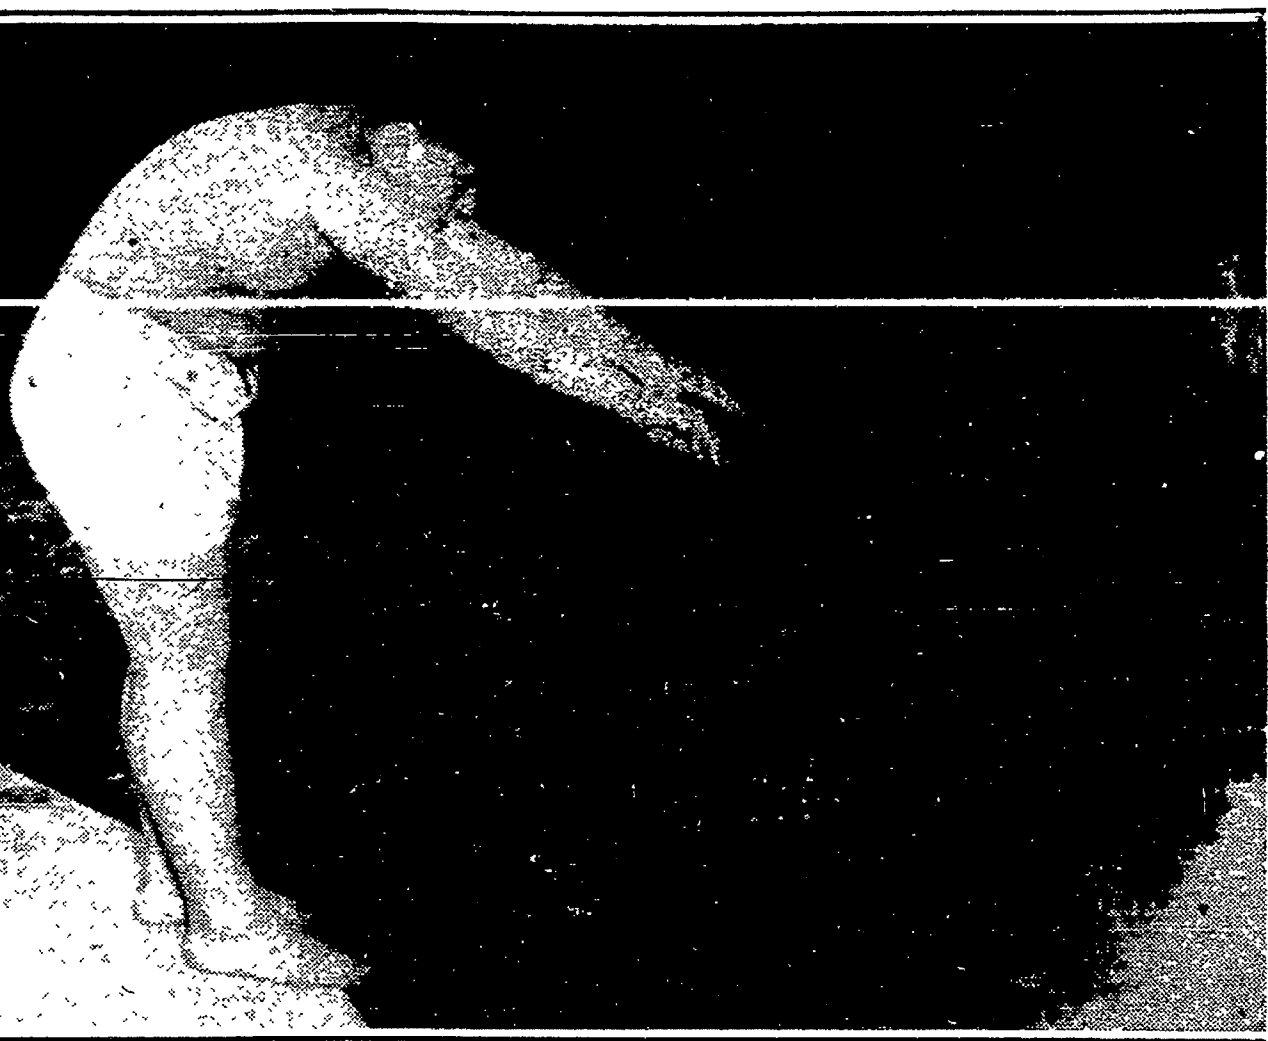

What had actually happened, the foreign office contended, was that it was agreed in 1944, that, for best results in the war against Germany, Britain should operate in and from Greece, leaving Romania to the Russians. The most which could be said of the arrangement, the British spokesman insisted, was that it provided an agreement for co-ordinating military strategy.

Replying in a statement tonight, Byrnes denied that he had said anything in his book about "spheres of influence." Then he quoted a paragraph from the book in which he said that Prime Minister Churchill and his foreign minister, Anthony Eden, had reached an informal understanding at Moscow in the Fall of 1944 that the Russians would not interfere if the British took military action "to quell internal disorders in Greece."

In return, according to the Byrnes book, "The British would recognize the right of the Soviets to take the lead in maintaining order in Romania."

Byrnes declared tonight that the foreign office spokesman who said there was only a military strategy agreement "evidently is not informed."

When It's June in October—

Well, the weather was almost warm enough for it yesterday. So Denny Underwood, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Prior, played "hooky" from St. Aloysius school for a half hour yesterday afternoon to scoff at the calendar and doff his clothes for a dip into the pool at Manatany park. The Mercury cameraman wasn't saying whether he completed the dive, but it was still warm enough for it!

Student Pilot Injured As Plane Dives Into Woods at Limerick

A small training plane plunged into a cluster of trees at Pottstown Airport, Limerick, about 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, seriously injuring its student pilot, Frank Lawrence, 46, of Schwenksville RD 1.

The victim of the crash was taken to Memorial hospital where he was reported to have suffered a possible skull fracture a compound fracture of the left leg at the ankle, cuts of the face and severe shock.

Dr. J. G. Shade, who treated Lawrence, said his condition was "fair" last night. He said the patient could not be disturbed to make X-rays for at least 24 hours.

Lawrence's airplane, owned by Wesley Nyce, operator of the airport, was coming into the airport for a landing on the north-south runway.

Witnesses of the accident and instructors at the field said that, with practically no headwind, the plane settled toward the ground about midfield. At this point, Lawrence apparently saw that his ship would overshoot the runway and he applied full throttle to gain altitude for another landing attempt.

The 65 horse-powered airplane had not gained considerable altitude when it drifted off toward the right and crashed into the isolated cluster of trees at the west side of the airport.

Instructors speculated that Lawrence, in attempting to pick up altitude, had either climbed too steeply and put the plane into a stall or had applied too much right rudder control, causing the ship to fall off in that direction.

It was believed that Lawrence's left foot had become jammed under a rudder pedal and that the leg bone was broken when he was thrown forward by the impact of the crash.

The plane's damage included a broken propeller, torn cowlings and damage to the front end of the fuselage and wings.

Lawrence was taken to Memorial hospital in a Good Will ambulance manned by Herbert Quinter and John Wojcik.

The injured pilot was a private (Continued on Page Three)

British Ask Reds to Support Year-Round Assembly Plan

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Britain, mixing large doses of sarcasm aimed directly at Russia with a strong plea for Soviet-American co-operation, urged the Russians today to accept a compromise on Secretary of State Marshall's plan for a year-round sitting of the 57 United Nations here.

Russia promptly rejected the British appeal with the curt remark that the word "compromise" was not in her glossary in this case. She assailed the Marshall plan once more, charged it is part of an American plan to "dictate" world policy, and declared that the United States "respects neither the charter nor the principles of the United Nations."

The United States meanwhile picked up support elsewhere in the U. N. Assembly's 57-member political committee for the "little assembly" idea. France endorsed it in principle and Brazil, Argentina and The Philippines backed it. The British said they favored it but introduced their ideas for modifications as a compromise intended—some sources said without much hope of success—to meet the Russian objections.

The political committee chairman, Joseph Bech of Luxembourg, said he hoped to discuss on the plan tomorrow and vote on turning all ideas over to a key sub-committee.

The situation is this: Sixteen countries, including China, Britain, and France, now favor in principle the U. S. plan. No one has spoken against it but Russia and members of the Slav bloc. Several speakers, however, have indicated they want the proposal modified and their views are likely to be pressed in the sub-committee which will whip out a final draft for the full committee and then for the assembly.

On other U. N. fronts: 1. The United States formally asked the U. N. assembly to speed Korean independence by creating a special commission to observe an early Korean election of a national assembly. Russia is bitterly opposed to the assembly considering the Korean issue.

2. Syria and Egypt challenged the right of the assembly to decide on the future status of Palestine. They called for rulings from the International Court of Justice.

The Jewish agency for Palestine told the assembly's special Palestine committee it would be ready to defend its people's interests to the holy land if Britain withdraws from Palestine before the U. N. steps in with a solution.

3. Cuban Ambassador Guillermo Belt told the Associated Press in an interview that everything possible should be done to keep Russia with the U. N.

Arthur Hyde Succumbs; Ex-Cabinet Member

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Arthur M. Hyde, of Trenton, Mo., former governor of Missouri and secretary of agriculture under President Herbert Hoover, died tonight.

Construction of permanent black top shoulders on more than six miles of the Layfield road is expected to be completed in the early part of December, the Ardmore office of the State Highway department announced yesterday.

The construction work on the road began yesterday when graders manned by highway department crews under the direction of Superintendent A. H. Ashworth started cutting out the notch for additional base widening.

It marked the completion of a campaign by the Mercury and the end of a ten-year fight by the Pottstown Automobile club to have the road widened. Both

Cargo Plane Missing With 3 Persons Aboard

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—A DC3 cargo plane, with a crew of three aboard, was reported missing late tonight, more than 28 hours after it left Charlotte for a one-hour flight over the well traveled route to Gainesville, Ga.

R. D. Beaumont, Charlotte agent of Strato Freight Inc., owners of the plane, said it was en route between Pittsfield, Mass., and Gainesville with a cargo of chickens.

Stalin Tells Britons He Desires Harmony With U. S., Avoids War

WARSAW, Oct. 17 (AP)—Eight Labor members of the British parliament touring Europe declared tonight that Prime Minister Stalin had told them in Russia that he had no thought of making war and wanted to settle political and economic issues with the United States.

The Britons, headed by Konni Zilliacus, said Stalin added that if the U. S. and Britain did not desire to settle differences, "we shall wait until they regain their reason."

Zilliacus said he and the seven other members of parliament, on a visit to Moscow to study Russian trade unions and factories, were flown in a special plane to Stalin's villa at Sochi on the Black Sea.

There, Zilliacus reported, Stalin voiced a desire to reach an understanding between the East and West and dissipate fears of a new conflict.

The parliamentary group quoted Stalin as saying in a two-hour interview: "We want as close trade relations with Great Britain as possible. We are interested in the development of trade relations between our two countries."

"Just as the Soviet Union has always stood for improvement of political and economic relations with all countries, so it now stands for such improvement, beginning with the United States and Great Britain."

"If these countries wish to improve relations with the Soviet Union, they will be welcomed. We shall be prepared to go forward to meet them irrespective of what economic setup may be in those countries."

"Co-operation between countries having different economic systems is possible. That already has been proved by experience."

"If, however, they do not want to improve their relations with the Soviet Union, we shall have to do without them. We shall nevertheless be able to carry on."

Zilliacus declined to say whether Stalin indicated what steps should be taken to resolve the issues between Russia and the Anglo-Saxon powers. He added that he could not disclose any further facts about what Stalin said.

Two Aerialists to Perform At Downtown Location

Work will start this morning on the erection of a 125-foot pole atop the Hoffman Apparel store building at the southeast corner of High and Penn streets upon which Betty and Benny Fox, aerialists, will perform Thursday and Friday.

Three performances, at 11, 3 and 7 o'clock, on an 18 inch platform will mark the two "Thrill Days" being sponsored by the Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

Pottstown Women Easing Hems Down—to the Calves

By FRED SELBY (Mercury Staff Writer)
As far as Pottstown is concerned, America's style "dictators" bit off more than they could chew by proclaiming the need of ankle-length dresses for "That New Look."

Reports from dressmakers, tailors and shop owners indicate Pottstown women don't want that new look, or at least not much of it. Most of them have adopted a longer skirt—calf-length, in most cases—but they want no part of heavy hip pads, elaborate waist drapes or trailing skirts.

Dressmakers and tailors are busy with alterations, but they say there are as many cases of new dresses being toned down as there are of last year's dresses being modernized.

"It would really be pathetic if stores stocked up on extreme garments," declared Ruth Donahue of the McCarthy apartments, manager of the women's department of a large Pottstown store.

Asserting that almost every dress and skirt bought in the store had to be shortened to suit a customer, Miss Donahue said the store "is just swamped with alterations and had to hire more help than ever."

She added that delivery on a new dress can be promised only within two weeks, while two or three days was the required time in other years.

Manufacturers, she said, apparently have abandoned hopes of enforcing ankle-length skirts. Every week the dresses received are a little shorter, while (Continued on Page Three)

BREAD TO GO UP IN PRICE TODAY

Out-of-Town Bakeries Up Cost One Cent in Area; Others Expected to Follow

Many Pottstown housewives, who purchase out-of-town brands of bread, will find that the price has been raised from 15 cents to 16 cents today.

The three Philadelphia firms that announced the boost are the General Baking company, the Preinhorst Baking company, and the Parkway Baking company, Stroehmann Brothers company, of Norristown, also announced a one-cent price hike.

Samuel Detweiler, manager of the Continental Baking company of Norristown, did not comment on his firm's price stand, while Charles Boyle, office manager of the Schulz Baking company here, declared:

"There is some general movement in the direction of a higher price, but I can't say definitely that the cost of Schulz bread will go up until Monday or Tuesday."

Bakery officials claimed that the price increase was forced by soaring flour costs, which have advanced as much as $1.50 per 100 pounds and had no direct bearing on the wheat conservation program.

For the present, prices of chain store bread are unchanged, and officials could not predict whether price boosts were imminent, saying it depended on flour prices in the future.

Leaders in the bread industry reported that sales to stores and homes have shrunk only slightly since President Truman's appeal to save one slice a day, but that sales to hotels and restaurants have dropped substantially.

Household decreases, they added, may be due to unseasonably warm weather, rather than to the food conservation program.

Officials believed that the decline in the use of bread in restaurants and hotels should be reflected eventually in the flour and wheat markets.

Giles Given 4-10 Year Sentence After Conviction in Morals Case

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, Oct. 17—A warning that sex offenders would receive severe penalties was issued today by Judge William F. Dannehower as he imposed a sentence of from four to 10 years in the Eastern penitentiary against Willis Giles, 39, of Reading, accused of molesting a 6½-year-old Pottstown boy the past winter.

Giles also was given a one to two year sentence for a jail break the past Memorial day.

Giles was convicted by a jury the past Spring and while he was in the county prison awaiting action on his motions for a new trial he fled from the jail, climbing over a chain spout to get over the wall.

The defendant was apprehended 10 days later in Reading. Judge Dannehower refused a new trial in the morals case two weeks ago and scheduled him for sentence today.

Giles, according to his record, is a fourth offender, twice for sex crimes. He also admitted he fled from the Berks county prison on two occasions.

"Sex crimes of this nature are on the increase," commented Judge Dannehower. "They call for severe penalties in order to protect our children."

"No fair-minded person can have any sympathy for a man who is a second offender for a sex crime. You disgracefully abused a 6½-year-old boy and have made him ill and nervous so that his life has been affected."

Judge Dannehower then directed that Giles serve from four to 10 years in the Eastern penitentiary for the sex crime and that he is to serve from one to two years for prison breach. This sentence to be (Continued on Page Three)

Bread Loaf to Be Reduced In Size to Aid Food Savings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Bakers promised today to feature smaller loaves of bread and crust-pies, wherever they can, as part of a broad save-food-for-Europe program which President Truman called "right and necessary."

And the citizens' food committee, which got the pledge of co-operation from the bakers, said it expects housewives and restaurants to go along on such things as single-crust pies and two-layer cakes.

The goal for this part of the drive to help Europe through the winter is a saving of 3,000,000 bushels of wheat a month.

As for the general program, Mr. Truman told 90 members of a national conference of editorial writers who called at the White House.

"We are not doing this for credit. We are doing it because it is right and necessary."

That was his answer when one editor asked whether this country is "going to get any credit for all the help we are giving the rest of the world?"

Other related developments: Spokesmen for small business urged the Government "to try to get to market food they said is being withheld."

Clubwomen appealed to buyers and Congress to "stand up to a fight against high prices and to women to take the lead in the food-saving drive."

Luckman said it would be months before the entire baking business could turn out smaller loaves of bread. That is because of legal restrictions and mechanical difficulties.

He asked the bakers to work on the difficulties, with the idea of getting a smaller loaf throughout the country during the winter. But in the meantime, Luckman said the bakers who produce several sizes will feature the smaller loaves.

World War II Vets Installed as Officers Of American Legion

The three top officers of George A. Amole Post 47, American Legion—all veterans of World War II and all men with Navy service—were installed last night before more than 100 members who met in the post house.

William O'Donnell was installed as the new commander by Herbert Walker, of Langhorne, Ninth district commander. O'Donnell, former first vice commander, succeeds Clarence H. Grimes.

William H. Yohn is the new first vice commander and Leonard R. O'Connell, the new second vice commander.

Following the installation in the well-filled meeting room, a reception for the new officers was held.

Other men, elected with these three the past June, who formally took office last night were: Executive committee: Clarence R. Fox, Joseph H. Burdian, Walter S. Hutt, John M. Supplee and Yohn.

Ralph A. Guest, adjutant; Joseph Burdian, financial officer; Norman L. John and Harry J. Ginter, service officers; the Rev. Luther A. Krouse, chaplain; Leroy Koch and Clarence Hoffman, sergeants at arms; Frank Zissa, historian; Alvin Paul, athletic officer; and E. Edmund Wells, judge advocate.

No record heat has been recorded this month although there has been an excess of 51 degrees since Oct. 1. Average more than three degrees above normal daily. Yesterday's high point was 56 degrees, ten degrees below the 1908 record for the date.

The warm, humid weather, with temperatures ranging from eight to ten degrees above normal, is expected to prevail for the next few days, but the weatherman sees cooler days headed this way or "the middle of next week, with little or no rain."

Appearance of the dense fog has been the result of the condensation of moisture in the heavily humid, warm air, when it strikes the ground, still chilled from the frost that hit this area at the end of September.

Relative humidity was 99 percent early yesterday morning, with the moisture appearing on windows and automobile bodies, making the weather seem even warmer than the 63 degrees registered in the weather bureau.

Workers Lay Down on Job, Housing Contractor Claims

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—An architect and a contractor testified today that the high cost of housing can be traced in part to a slow-down by labor and that in some instances the workers are "actually laying down on the job."

Both witnesses appeared before a House labor subcommittee which is investigating the housing shortage.

Rep. Gurnea (R-NY) subcommittee chairman took a different view. He declared that the Federal Government itself is one of the "worst" restrictive elements in the bottleneck of American housing.

The House group will wind up its preliminary hearings here tomorrow and will leave in about 10 days on a field investigation with tentative stops scheduled for Philadelphia, Cleveland, New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Nelson Jeffress, of Jeffress-Dyer, Inc., Washington, D. C., contractors, said labor costs to his company have increased from 118 to 400 percent in eight construction categories since 1939 and attributed it "entirely to decreased productivity."

Jeffress contended that building workers are "laying down on the job."

James R. Edmunds Jr., Baltimore former president of the American Institute of Architects testified that a spot survey there showed labor today is producing only 50 to 75 percent of its 1939 output.

"Decreased productivity" he said, "is not due to any suggestion from union leadership. It is due to the worker, himself. There is no conspiracy involved, but the fact is they don't produce."

"A lot of it is nothing but bad habits formed during the war construction era, when more men were crowded into a job than the job warranted."

Chairman Gurnea roundly criticized the Government for stepping into the housing credit picture with GI loans, FHA loan guarantees, etc.

"We don't need Government credit," Gurnea said at a committee hearing.

Latin Americans Charge Soviet Should Apologize For Attack on President

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 17 (AP)—A high government source said today that Brazil will break diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia as a result of Moscow's failure to apologize for an attack in the government newspaper Investia upon President Eurico Gaspar Dutra.

Investia recently declared Dutra was subservient to the United States and made other attacks offensive to the Brazilian army and government. The Moscow literary gazette in another article said President Dutra was a "crook with claws" who followed the lead of "the United States horse with hooves."

Foreign Minister Raul Fernandes announced on Oct. 14 that the Brazilian government had asked Soviet Russia for an explanation of these comments in the Soviet press.

The informant said an official announcement of the break in relations could be expected within 72 hours.

Well-informed diplomatic sources said other American nations may adopt a similar attitude to emphasize their solid support of Chile who recently expelled two Yugoslav diplomats, charging they were fomenting strikes in Chile as part of a Belgrade-directed campaign of the new Communist international information bureau. As a result of the expulsion Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government severed relations with Chile.

The informant said the Brazilian government would hand passports to Soviet charge d'affaires George Sokolov and six other Russian officials, including Jorga Alagun, the Tass representative.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Suriz and his family left Brazil recently after the Brazilian government had outlawed the Communist party, largest in South America.

Senator Declares European Strikes Lower U. S. Faith

PARIS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) told a news conference today that a wave of Communist-inspired strikes at a time when maximum production was needed urgently "Unites States belief in Europe's desire or help itself."

The senator, chairman of the U. S. Senate appropriations committee, is making an investigation tour of Europe with some of the committee.

He said his view was conveyed to Premier Paul Ramadier, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Finance Minister Robert Schuman.

These governments must be strong in dealing with strikes inspired by Communists, Bridges said, "because the Communists were fomenting industrial strife to hamper recovery and lessen American support for the Marshall plan."

"They cannot temporize. If they want help, they cannot have their production hauled down. The average citizen must realize that when the Communists inspire strikes they are harming France and all countries."

Bridges said his group had sought "general assurances" that the Communists would not "gain an ascendancy" in France.

Warm CIO Welcome for Marshall

Following his address before the convention of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) in Boston, Mass., Secretary of State George C. Marshall (left) shakes hands with CIO chief Philip Murray. Murray was re-elected president yesterday. In center is Jacob Potofsky, garment union official. In a spirited defense of American foreign policy, Marshall told the convention that among the first victims of any dictatorial regime is "the right of labor to organize itself for the protection of its interests."

Allied Gold Group Allots 104 Million Of Loaf to France

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Dollar-hungry France will get $104,150,250 of the "pot of gold" that Germany looted in Europe, it was announced tonight.

The American-British-French gold commission awarded a total of $144,526,550 of the gold to Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg. Belgium and Luxembourg agreed to turn over their share — $104,150,250 — to the French government to pay back gold France lent to them several years ago.

The low countries have been reported by President Truman to be able to buy their necessities, as contrasted with France, Italy and Austria.

The Netherlands government got $40,376,250 as its share.

The commission simultaneously set aside $29,460,375 in gold for Austria and $4,280,625 for the Italian government.

These awards represent preliminary distributions of a total of $330,000,000 which the three-power commission will divide among Allied powers who claim the Nazis stole it from them during the war.

The American Government asked the commission to begin distributions by Oct. 15 in order to help

British Sign Pact Giving Burma Full Independence in January

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A treaty under which Britain's rule of more than a century over Burma will be terminated formally in January was signed here today by the prime ministers of the two countries.

The pact, under which authority will be transferred to the new federal Burmese republic, was signed by Prime Minister Attlee for Britain and Prime Minister Thakin Nu of Burma.

This was the second time Burma has received her "independence." In 1943 during the Japanese occupation — when British rule was broken temporarily — the Japanese announced the granting of independence to Burma. U Ba Maw, the then puppet premier, was arrested following the assassination of Thakin Nu's predecessor, U Aung San.

Former Premier U San now is on trial at Rangoon in connection with the assassination. Both U San and U Ba Maw are opponents of Aung San and the present government.

gin at the expiration of the 4 to 10 term.
The defendant also was directed to pay fines totaling $20 and the costs.
Warden Peter J. Reilly testified briefly concerning the prison breach.
Giles testified he was 39 years old and that he was married and had two children.
He said he escaped from jail because he was "homesick for his wife and children." He said he remained in the vicinity of Reading while he was out of prison.
After sentence was imposed, Giles interjected, "I don't think I've had a fair trial."
"We thought you had a very fair trial," said Judge Dannenbauer as he explained that motions for a new trial had been argued before the court.
"I don't think so," maintained Giles.
"Well, you are entitled to your opinion," said Judge Dannenbauer. "Twelve jurors who heard your case thought you were guilty."
Attorney W. H. Rosenberry Jr. represented Giles while Assistant District Attorney Alan Keely represented the Commonwealth.

Arrival of Train Here Delayed by Derailment
Commuters to Reading and points north on the No. 1 northbound train were delayed more than a half hour yesterday morning when the train was held up by a derailment and heavy fog.
Philadelphia officials of the Reading company said the train was delayed 20 minutes in Philadelphia by the derailment of a freight car at Miquon. When the track finally was cleared, heavy fog along the right of way prevented the engineer from making up the lost time because of poor visibility.

Refrigerator Removed As Gas Pours From Leak
Firemen of the Empire Hook and Ladder company were forced to don gas masks when the refrigerator of William Schanley, 80 Rohland street, developed a leaky valve yesterday afternoon.
Schanley had called a serviceman to repair his electric refrigerator. When the mechanic discovered the leak he summoned the fire company.
By that time considerable gas had escaped, and the firemen used their gas masks to enter the house, remove the unit, and take it into the back yard. Neither the firemen nor any residents of the house suffered any ill effects from the gas.
The unit was ruined and will have to be replaced, firemen said.
The call was received at 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

HOUSING PROJECT —
Authority: Chief Underwriter George Deegan, of Philadelphia, Edmund Koser, of the Montgomery County Housing Authority unit at Penn Village; members of the zoning and planning commission; the board of adjustment; and councilman committees on planning and housing.
Horace Y. Seidel is chairman of the zoning commission while Jay H. Rinehart heads the adjustment board.
Maple Gardens Inc. has the following officers: Keiser, president and treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Keiser, secretary; S. Kendrick Lohy, Philadelphia, a director. The Schenectady Savings bank of Schenectady, N. Y., is the mortgagee. The project is being erected under the provisions of the veterans emergency housing act of the Federal Government.
Housing authority regulations
The site is bounded on the west by Hanover street, on the east by Feist avenue, on the south by Grace street and on the north by Mineral street.
Plans call for the erection of housing units and garages to cover 5 1/2 acres while there will be 3 1/2 acres in lawns and courts.
The main entrance will be from Feist avenue, leading to a court. On either side of the court will be eight units, each apartment suite having five to six rooms. A large open area will be located west of the court with ten units on the north and south sides.
Twenty units will be erected at the west side of the large tract. The entire open space will be landscaped with trees and shrubs.
Keiser said that the rentals will start at $75 per month.
Plans were drawn by Architect Lichty, who is connected with the engineering firm of H. L. Yoh company, Inc., of Philadelphia. The buildings will all be of brick construction of a modern Colonial type with emphasis on fireproof construction. There will be a central heating system with individual apartment suite control.
Keiser said that next Thursday morning a power excavator will go to work and it is expected good progress will be made on the project by the end of this year.
Keiser, who is a son of the late Frederick H. Keiser, well known contractor and builder, is a veteran of the World Wars. He served as an ensign in the Navy in the first World War. He was a naval commander in World War II. He is now head of the contracting firm of F. H. Keiser, this borough.

Evangelistic Meetings Planned at 4 Churches

Two Autos Collide During Morning Fog
Wet, slippery pavement and fog contributed to a two car collision at High and Washington streets early yesterday morning.
The accident occurred at 6:50 o'clock as a car driven east on High street by Nicholas Shea, 518 Walnut street, attempted to make a left hand turn on to Washington street. It collided with a car driven by Leon Pogwist Jr., 1113 Sembling avenue, going west on High street.
Pogwist told Motor Patrolman Harold E. Mann who investigated that he tried to stop but was unable to halt his car in time.
The car Shea was driving was owned by Frank L. Hartenstein, 662 Walnut street. It had its front end pushed in while Pogwist's car had the left front fender damaged.
No one was injured in the collision.

POTTSTOWN WOMEN
shoulder pads are returning and hip pads are disappearing.
Mrs. Maude L. Harvey, of Stowe, dressmaker for 19 years, said she had "just a few" demands for fancy waistlines or h.b. pads.
Occasionally a customer tries an ankle length dress. Mrs. Harvey said, "but they often feel awfully awkward and bring it back."
She reported the shoulder pad situation was in a state of flux. A woman customer who bowls wanted almost no pads while a new bride came back for more shoulders.
As did all dressmakers and tailors questioned, Mrs. Harvey said that old dresses could be lengthened to the new mode if they had two or two-and-a-half inches of extra hem.
Dressmaker Pearl A. Gates, 601 North Evans street, divulged a new wrinkle in the art of reconstruction. Using contrasting material at the hem could save some 1946 dresses with sufficient extra material, but she warned that this technique was not applicable to all colors.
Several store owners reported a new type of hem imported from California, which comes in a wide choice of colors and can be used to lengthen an old skirt by special stitching involving straight plus bias binding.
These new hem strips can create a calf-length skirt that can be told from a new dress, they declare, but add that a store lucky enough to get a few is quickly sold out.
So far no one has come forth with an invention to provide a swirl or two for older tailored skirts. A few dressmakers and

The weary sun hath made a golden set; and by the light track of his fiery car, gives token of a goodly day to-morrow.—Shakespeare.

One World

THE LORD works in mysterious ways, His wonders to perform.

In the beginning there was One World. Did the Lord "confound" it as a challenge to man? Did he scatter man abroad in the hope that it would be a challenge to each individual to stand on his own feet and rise to his responsibilities?

Let's read the eleventh chapter of Genesis:

"And the whole earth was of one language, and of one speech,

"And it came to pass, as they journeyed from the east, that they found a plain in the land of Shinar; and they dwelt there.

"And they said one to another, Go to, let us make brick, and burn them thoroughly. And they had brick for stone, and slime they had for mortar.

"And they said, Go to, let us build us a city and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth."

With all the strivings today for "One World," we might well ask the meaning of these verses from Genesis. Or, we might ask for a definition of "One World," as the words are used today.

It seems reasonable that, if everyone lived by the Golden Rule, there would be "One World." It is not simply a political thing, this "One World" idea. It's spiritual. Governments might get together through agreements of co-operation. And there might be another Babel created, as there was in the beginning. "One World" must come up from the individual. It cannot be handed down from planners and politicians.

Isn't this what the Maker had in mind?

A Day of Upsets

AS WE go into another Saturday of college football, it becomes increasingly apparent that this is going to be a tough year for the "experts" who forecast football results. Past performances, comparative scores, relative offensive and defensive quotients mean little this year. It's the intangibles that count. A mediocre team that is inspired on a particular Saturday will chase out of the park an infinitely better team that attempts to take the game in stride.

The experts haven't yet caught up with the new intangibles. For instance, a high proportion of the bright gridiron stars are now married men. Many are fathers or expectant fathers. The status of Junior's first tooth may send the star quarterback into battle jubilant and raring to tear the opposition limb from limb, or with one ear cocked for a fall from the bassinet.

So your best bet is not to bet at all on college football!

Unsound Food Sharing Program

THE administration's program for curtailing the consumption of food so that more can be shipped to Europe is going to cause an increased dislocation of the American economy, and further price increases.

Shutting down the distilleries for 60 days is only a small sample of how the program being pushed by the high-pressure salesman, Charles Luckman, will work.

There is good reason to believe that the distillery shut-down is pretty much of a poney. The distilleries already have produced supplies for the heavy Christmas and New Year's buying. They no doubt welcome an excuse to close, knowing that they can make up the lost production in a short time after re-opening.

Meanwhile, they do employ substantial numbers of workers who are to be "die and no doubt on unemployment compensation.

With the Federal Government entering the market and buying heavily, supplies will be shorted for the established wholesale and retail trade. This will lead to layoffs and short time for American workers in the distribution business. With fewer goods reaching the store shelves, prices will be bid up even higher than they are today, thereby hastening the time when there will be a not-so-trend deflation of the economy.

How much better it would be to permit the economy to function as close to normal as possible? Allow the food producers to move through the regular manufacturing and distribution channels. Then direct a campaign to the people of the nation. Let them share their food with people abroad. They'll do it. And they'll do it much more effectively than the government can do it.

PUNKIN CORNERS,

Dear Sir n' Brother:

Wad, I see by the papers where a South African lad who claims to have "X-ray" eyes, is said to be able to see hidden gold. If he ever visited Pt. Knox he'd have to wear blinders!

Another item says the United Nations is to have its own flag. In view of all the talk that features UN meetings, an appropriate design would be a loud speaker rampant on a field of beating aid!

And says: These college athletes who get secretly paid for playing football should be classified as strictly scholastic.

Hope you put the same.

Credit Misplaced

To the Editor: While reading the story concerning the Democratic rally, (Oct. 14) I was surprised to see that the Democrats are taking credit for the installation of the police radio.

I am not a Republican, nor a Democrat, so I hold nothing against either party. But I do believe in giving credit where credit is due. Had it not been for the efforts of the two of our Republican councilmen, I don't think we would have the police radio.

Not only have they been fighting for the police radio, but for the traffic signal at High and Evans streets. After numerous accidents and mishaps, their pleas finally were heard.

If only more of their pleas were heard and acted upon! We certainly would have a town worth bragging about!

Yes, I say give credit where credit is due. So I am thanking these two men in particular for their good work. Keep up the good fight! More light is needed from the rest of council.

Pottstown BILL

Taking Food From Americans

To the Editor: Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota was recently reported to have said in an address he made in the east that we should have "20 percent drop in total food consumption."

If his quota or standard were enforced, some people would get too much to eat and other people would not get enough. Farmers and lumberjacks who work hard need more food than bartenders and stenographers who do easy work in warm rooms. Consequently, Stassen's plan would have a bad effect on the American workman's health.

Stassen apparently would save food so there would be a greater surplus to export to feed beggars threatened by starvation in remote parts of the world. I don't believe the United States government has the legal and moral right to pick the pockets of American citizens to feed foreigners from starving.

Crown Jewels Worth Little as to Loan

By RAY TUCKER

ON TOUR IN THE WEST, Oct. 17—Here are a few questions and answers culled from recent correspondence:

"Why doesn't Britain use some of its investments in this country as collateral for her loans over here?" explodes Mrs. M. M. C. of Long Beach, Cal. "Or what is wrong with their putting up their crown jewels? Our President's families don't have crown jewels."

Answer: England has comparatively little collateral in the form of investments in the U.S. She sold much of them to American buyers to finance her World War I and II purchases.

The crown jewels hardly worth the interest on the current $3,750,000,000 loan. And I doubt whether President or Mrs. Truman is partial to jewelry of the American or British variety. Thinking back, I can remember few recent Presidents or presidential wives who went in for this form of adornment.

More seriously, however, it has been proposed that Britaincede to us the bases we leased for 99 years in return for the gift of fifty destroyers in 1939. These air and naval outposts would serve to make this country almost impregnable if there should be global conflict. And any strengthening of our defense would be an advantage to our historic ally.

POTATOES: "What department or official, J. W. D. Sr. of Shawnee, Okla., wants to know, "is responsible for the burning and dumping of potatoes and other foods? I directed an inquiry to the Agriculture Department but got no reply."

Answer: Keep on sending your complaints to Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture. He is the executor of this policy although he did not originate it. Incidentally, he has warned that the price of this product will probably increase during the winter.

NOMINEE: Question from W. F. H. of San Diego, Cal.: "What would happen after a party convention if the presidential or vice-presidential candidates should die before the November election?"

Answer: Almost as its last act, the national convention of both parties empowers its National Committee to meet and select a substitute nominee if either should die before Election Day.

Readers' questions on national affairs are discussed and answered each Saturday in this column. Readers are invited to send question direct to Ray Tucker, 6308 Hillcrest Pl., Chevy Chase, Md.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
MARTHA G., 39, is a very charming woman.

"Dr. Crane, I'd like a copy of your bulletin called 'Sex Problems in Marriage,' which you offered last month," she announced.

"I know that I need this help as I've schooled myself for years to feel that sexual desire is base and vulgar. During my 20 years of married life I can count on my fingers the times the marital act was pleasant or completely satisfactory to me.

"My mother was 44 years old when I was born. She always taught me that after marriage a woman had to put up with so much which all decent women hated, but which was inevitable since men were like animals.

"I am now 39 years old, so I realize it is rather late in my married career to try to alter my previous wrong attitude, but I do long to be what I should be for the rest of my married life.

"My mother also drilled into me the fact that men shouldn't be physically interested in their wives after the menopause. Dr. Crane, is this true?

"I am beginning to feel that I have wasted much happiness and peace of mind because of my mother's warped viewpoints regarding marital behavior.

"She probably thought she was doing the right thing by prejudicing my mind in this fashion, but I know now that it led my marriage pretty close to the brink of divorce on several occasions.

"Although I attended college two years, and have read a little on the subject, I am still ignorant on many points.

"Dr. Crane, does too frequent indulgence in marital relations have a tendency to produce insanity in either the husband or wife?

"Does woman's sex desire vanish at the change of life? Do self-sex practices produce insanity? I have two boys in grammar school, and I wonder if you will tell me how to broach the subject of sex instruction to them?

"Another thing bothers me. My husband's father lost his mind. Do you think my husband or my children will inherit this? Dr. Crane, a terrible load of fear and worry would be lifted from my shoulders if you would solve these puzzles for me."

Through this daily psychology column and the mail service attached thereto, your newspaper is offering a college course in applied psychology to all readers in your community.

If you could just visualize the heartaches, unhappiness, fears and worries, secret terrors and false misgivings which fetter mankind and needlessly rob us of happiness and the more abundant life, you'd realize the vast educational influence of your newspaper as the "University in Print" of America.

Now I shall answer some of the questions mentioned above. Women do NOT lose their sex desire at the change of life. In fact, many women report an increased pleasure in marital relationships at that time.

Excessive indulgence in marital relations do NOT produce insanity. Nor do self-sex practices cause children to lose their minds, although this false belief still terrifies millions of boys and girls.

Many types of insanity are positively never inherited, and the latest research is beginning to make us doubt if any form of insanity is really inherited.

Sanity is well fortified by active participation in altruistic and religious work, happy marital relations, and many friends and social contacts. So don't worry about losing your mind. Instead, go out and mingle with people. Win friends by tooting the other fellow's horn.

And send for my bulletin "How to Stay Sane and Happy," enclosing a 3-cent stamped envelope, plus a dime.

Use it to vaccinate yourself and your children against insanity, for such vaccination is the most efficient method for combatting insanity.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17—Pals of Elliott Roosevelt and Faye Emerson report that their marriage is in shoal water, and that they'll try to save it via a trial separation. . . . Good Listening: Keenan Wynn's recording of Frank Tashlin's very clever fable, "The Bear That Wasn't"

PIC OF THE WEEK: "Where's the Life?" (Bob Hope-Signe Hasso-William Bendix). Mile-a-minute burlesque, with Hope at his hilarious best.

GOOD: "Keeper of the Bees" (Michael Duane - Gloria Henry - Harry Davenport). A low-budget offering with surprisingly high entertainment value. . . . "This Time for Keeps" (Esther Williams - Lauritz Melchior - Jimmy Durante-Johnny Johnston). Lavish spectacle, but someone forgot to include a story.

SO-SO: "The Invisible Wall" (Don Castle-Virginia Christine-Richard Gaines). Mildly exciting murder melodrama.

FOR ADULTS ONLY: "Nightmare Alley" (Tyronne Power-Joan Blondell - Coleen Gray - Helen Walker). Powerful, well-acted drama, but highly questionable because of its sordid, revolting plot. . . . Keep the kids at home.

BEST PERFORMANCE: Tyronne Power in "Nightmare Alley."

. . . Martin Block, the gold-mining disc jockey, will further pad his fabulous earnings by producing a series of shorts for MGM, telling the success stories of famous name bands.

Feuding: Desi Arnaz and Xavier Cugat. . . . Blue-pencil those rumors of romance between George Raft and Gail Robbins; she's happily married to a veteran now attending college in Los Angeles.

Now it's Jimmy Stewart, who's begging producers for "tough guy" roles. . . . Peggy Cummins' mama, has filed for American citizenship; Peggy, now in Europe, hasn't yet made up her mind to follow suit. . . . Lucille Ball's ex-agent is threatening a big-money lawsuit because she jumped her contract with him to sign with a rival.

June Haver tells me that the only thing delaying her planned adoption of a baby from a Chicago orphanage is her inability to make the necessary trip east to confer with orphanage officials. . . . Alter minds: Orchestra leader Gene Krupa and showgirl Marie Allison agree to host the radio shows, "Adventures of Harriet and Ozzie" and "Duffy's Tavern" will be the basis for new comic strips.

For the past three months, all of Hollywood's femme columnists and magazine writers have been in an emotional dither over the Greer Garson-Richard Ney divorce. On Monday, I read that Greer has dissolved into tears at mention of Ney's name; on Tuesday I read that "poor Richard" is wasting away to a shadow from melancholia. I'll have to confess that I've talked with neither Miss Garson nor her divorced spouse about their present feelings in the matter, but since there should be some fire where there's so much smoke, I find myself rather puzzled. If Greer is broken-hearted by the marital wreck, and Ney is pining for a reconciliation, why in Sam Hill don't they get together like sensible people and try to find a solution for their problems? And until they do, it might be a good idea for the Filmville sob-sisters to quit sympathizing with their unhappiness.

This week, a Los Angeles father was arrested for beating a two-year-old baby because the child insisted on talking during the showing of a motion picture. While considering his punishment, authorities might be wise to consider a law forbidding parents to take small children to late-hour shows—not so much to protect other patrons as to protect kids who should be in bed.

It is virtually an axiom of good bidding that, when you have two suits to bid, you show one at the first opportunity so you can complete your distributional story the next time and thereby give your partner a choice of fits. There is no kind of hand which is more loaded with danger for a wild bid of a void suit.

If West had been smart enough to pass the 6-Diamonds instead of doubling, North might have accepted the due punishment for his sins. But the double drove him in desperation to trying 6-Spades. The only smart move of the auction was South's pass of that.

North was lucky enough to take all the tricks except the spade. A

No Sense to Such Bids

SO-CALLED "psychic" bidding,

when there is no sound logic underlying it, can inject fireworks into the game, but is more likely to singe the user than the spectators. But if you have for a partner a player addicted to the indiscriminate use of such tactics, it will pay you to keep your eyes and ears open and do your utmost to protect the side from damage through his madness. There is no sense to some bids of that type, but they give the man across the table plenty of chance to use his thinking cap.

Human Relationships In Industry Stressed By NAM Speaker

Meeting the challenge presented by the problems of human relationships was described as a key to prosperity by D. Allen A. Stockdale, a member of the speakers' bureau of the National Association of Manufacturers.

He spoke before 151 members of the Executive and Foremen's club at their monthly dinner meeting in the YMCA last night.

"You are not managing machines, materials or blueprints, but the free personalities of America that have the power to advance or retard production," Dr. Stockdale declared.

He pointed out that the manager of a plant is not a dictator, but a leader, and emphasized the need of a sense of humor in handling men.

The NAM spokesman added, "There should be the spirit of challenge in the handling of humans. Let these problems challenge you, not irritate or bore you."

The speaker talked of four qualities of good management—visualization, clarification, organization, and deputation naming the last as the quality most difficult for many executives, and as the one that differentiated America and the non-democratic nations.

"Free enterprise depends upon deputizing," the NAM orator proclaimed. "This philosophy is so good that every other nation is looking to us for everything—money, food and leadership."

A brief business meeting was held by Francis M. Wampler, club president, before Dr. Stockdale's address.

Boys to Be Inducted Into 'Y' Program

Three induction ceremonies will be held next week for the 388 boys, members of the YMCA boys' department, who will participate in the "Y" Fall and Winter schedule.

The Preps, boys 8-10 years old, will meet at 7 p. m. Monday; the Gr-Y boys, 11-12 years of age, at 7 p. m. Wednesday; and boys 13 years or older, will be inducted at 7 o'clock, Friday night.

Membership cards will be issued and the boys will be instructed in various phases of the YMCA program.

Seven members of the newly organized Hi-Y club will serve on the induction team with James F. Baird Sr., youth work director; Donald P. Goodwin, physical director; and Mrs. Victor F. Patterson, game room supervisor.

They will be David Towers, Richard Spare, Jack Kirk, Jack Baird, Leonard A. Rath, Carl Supplee and Harold L. Bauer.

578 Attend Anniversary Of Casualty Company

A convention marking the 25th anniversary of the Harleysville Mutual Casualty company was attended by 578 employees and their wives from eight states who met yesterday afternoon at Sunnybrook.

Ezra Markley, Zieglerville, company president, made an address outlining the history of the company since its founding, while Arthur A. Alderfer, Harleysville, secretary, drew a picture of the future of the firm.

The Rev. C. H. Rahn, of Temple, delivered a talk in a humorous vein.

Awards were made to 10 employees for their work in the sales campaign conducted by the company from the past June 1 to Sept. 1.

Among the Pottstown area residents attending were S. Wagner Evans, 410 High street, Robert W. Evans, 238 Walnut street, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pennypacker, Parkerford.

Two Church Parish To Construct Home To House Minister

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Sassamansville, affiliated with St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran church, Clarksburg, Md., at present without a pastor, due to the absence of a suitable home in the area that would serve as a parsonage has taken steps to overcome this present obstacle.

St. Paul's members at a congregational meeting, decided to follow in the footsteps of the Swamp Lutheran church, New Hanover and St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Lobachville, in securing a suitable parsonage.

The congregation authorized its church council to erect a new home, not to exceed $9000, which would serve as a parsonage for both St. Paul's and St. Luke's. This was in preference to any further effort, so far futile to purchase some dwelling and remodel it to meet the requirements for a parson.

Following this action on the part of St. Paul's one of the members of the congregation announced the gift of a tract of land suitably located, as a site for the proposed new building.

Furthermore, members of the congregation have offered to do as did the members of the Lobachville congregation, namely; give of their skill, time and labor in the construction of the house. That is what members of the Swamp church, where their building is in the course of construction, are now doing.

It was not an unusual sight to see Rev. Luther Lee Lengle, pastor of St. Paul's church, to be at the shaft end of a loaded wheelbarrow, engaged in wheeling stones or supplies to workers on the building erected along Route 73, near the general store at Pleasantville, and into which the minister and his family moved a few days ago.

The action of the Sassamansville church folks left no necessity for any parsonage action by St. Luke's members, following their well-attended communion service, Sunday evening, at which Rev. Melvin Kurtz, retired, of Norristown, officiated. He aided in the establishment of St. Luke's congregation.

St. John's Parish Worker Resigns Church Post

Miss Ruth M. Zartman, Palmyra, tendered her resignation as a parish worker, in St. John's Lutheran church the past Friday night. It was accepted at a session of the church council.

Miss Zartman came to Boyertown several months ago after graduating from the Lutheran Training and Deaconess school at Baltimore, Md., where she had been given high praise for her attainments.

Since her stay in Boyertown, she gained many friends by reason of her marked interest in her work and the genial manner in which she adapted herself to the community. Accordingly, her retirement has come as a surprise to those who had admired her service.

Time Element Spoiled Democrat's Odds

CLIFTON, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP)—Harry Smith, Paterson city Democratic leader, beamed last night as he looked over the crowd of 300 at the Robin Hood inn.

He had arrived for a meeting of the Democratic county committee. He beat a hasty retreat when he found the conversation slightly confusing — it was a dinner of the Clifton Republican club.

The Democratic meeting is next Thursday night at the same place.

Treasured Tractor Destroyed in Blaze

EARNED TO Oct. 17 (AP)—Vic Simmons, who had an order in for a tractor for two years, received his machine the first of this week.

Today a fire on his farm a mile west of here destroyed two large barns, a granary containing the entire 1947 oats crop and farm equipment—including the $2000 tractor.

Median public expenditures per classroom unit for education in the United States vary from $4100 in New York to $400 in Mississippi.

220th Anniversary of Goshenhoppen Church Tomorrow

While announcing that New Goshenhoppen Reformed church, East Greenville, will hold a 220th Anniversary service tomorrow morning, Dr. Calvin M. DeLong, who has been pastor there for one-fifth of that period yesterday related details of the church's colorful history.

Dr. DeLong also announced that tomorrow's 10 a. m. service will be addressed by the Rev. Thomas H. Leimbach, the only surviving member of the committee which installed Dr. DeLong in 1903, immediately after his graduation from the Lehigh Seminary.

The first recorded date of the church, Dr. DeLong said, was Oct. 12, 1727, when George Michael Weiss celebrated Communion.

A friend of Weiss wrote at the time, "Weiss celebrated the Lord's Supper without knowing the people, admitting among others two men from Falekner Schwamm, who ought to have been taken to account because of their vicious lives."

The church's history is traced in the oldest "congregational record" in existence of the Reformed church, Dr. DeLong said. The covers show parts of iron clasps and its 81 leaves are waterstained and yellow with age. It is kept in the vault of an East Greenville bank.

Asserting that there was a log-cabin church before 1739, Dr. DeLong said the present structure was built in 1857. He cited evidence that wood and metal of the first churches had been used again in 1857. "Physically," he said, "this is literally an old church because the old has been built into the new."

The church stands on a 50-acre site donated by John Henry Sprengel. But, said Dr. DeLong, "he died without giving a deed. As a result the congregation was com-

peled to purchase the land from the heirs of Sprengel."

The New Goshenhoppen cemetery "is the oldest burial ground in this region," he said. "Here sleep the early settlers. Some graves are marked by rough field stones with no inscriptions. A number are without a stone of any kind. All this speaks silently of the hardships endured by, and the poverty of, these Goshenhoppen pioneers."

The Sunday anniversary service will include anthems by the Chapel choir, directed by Theodore W. Bradford, and by the Church choir, directed by Harry J. Schoenly.

Dr. Leimbach, who has come from Elmira, N. Y., has chosen as his topic, "An Unchanging God in a Changing World."

Dr. DeLong also announced that tomorrow's 10 a. m. service will be addressed by the Rev. Thomas H. Leimbach, the only surviving member of the committee which installed Dr. DeLong in 1903, immediately after his graduation from the Lehigh Seminary.

The first recorded date of the church, Dr. DeLong said, was Oct. 12, 1727, when George Michael Weiss celebrated Communion.

A friend of Weiss wrote at the time, "Weiss celebrated the Lord's Supper without knowing the people, admitting among others two men from Falekner Schwamm, who ought to have been taken to account because of their vicious lives."

The church's history is traced in the oldest "congregational record" in existence of the Reformed church, Dr. DeLong said. The covers show parts of iron clasps and its 81 leaves are waterstained and yellow with age. It is kept in the vault of an East Greenville bank.

Asserting that there was a log-cabin church before 1739, Dr. DeLong said the present structure was built in 1857. He cited evidence that wood and metal of the first churches had been used again in 1857. "Physically," he said, "this is literally an old church because the old has been built into the new."

The church stands on a 50-acre site donated by John Henry Sprengel. But, said Dr. DeLong, "he died without giving a deed. As a result the congregation was com-

peled to purchase the land from the heirs of Sprengel."

The New Goshenhoppen cemetery "is the oldest burial ground in this region," he said. "Here sleep the early settlers. Some graves are marked by rough field stones with no inscriptions. A number are without a stone of any kind. All this speaks silently of the hardships endured by, and the poverty of, these Goshenhoppen pioneers."

The Sunday anniversary service will include anthems by the Chapel choir, directed by Theodore W. Bradford, and by the Church choir, directed by Harry J. Schoenly.

Dr. Leimbach, who has come from Elmira, N. Y., has chosen as his topic, "An Unchanging God in a Changing World."

Human Relationships In Industry Stressed By NAM Speaker

Meeting the challenge presented by the problems of human relationships was described as a key to prosperity by Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, a member of the speakers' bureau of the National Association of Manufacturers.

He spoke before 151 members of the Executive and Foremen's club at their monthly dinner meeting in the YMCA last night.

"You are not managing machines, materials, or blueprints, but the free personalities of America that have the power to advance or retard production," Dr. Stockdale declared.

The speaker before 151 members of the Executive and Foremen's club at their monthly dinner meeting in the YMCA last night.

"There should be the spirit of challenge in the handling of humans. Let these problems challenge you, not irritate or bore you."

The speaker talked of four qualities of good management—visualization, clarification, organization, and delegation, naming the last as the quality most difficult for many executives, and as the one that differentiated America and the non-democratic nations.

"Free enterprise depends upon deputizing," the NAM orator proclaimed. "This philosophy is so good that every other nation is looking to us for everything—money, food and leadership."

A brief business meeting was held by Francis M. Wampler, club president, before Dr. Stockdale's address.

Boys to Be Inducted Into 'Y' Program

Three induction ceremonies will be held next week for the 388 boys, members of the YMCA boys' department, who will participate in the "Y" Fall and Winter schedule.

The first, boys 8-10 years old, will meet at 7 p. m. Monday, the second, boys 11-12 years of age, at 7 p. m. Wednesday, and boys 13 years or older, will be inducted at 7 o'clock, Friday night.

Membership cards will be issued and the boys will be instructed in various phases of the YMCA program.

Seven members of the newly organized Hi-Y club will serve on the induction team with James F. Baird Sr., youth director, Donald P. Gowdon, physical director, and Mrs. Victor P. Patterson, game room supervisor.

They will be David Towers, Richard Spare, Jack Kirk, Jack Baird, Leonard A. Rath, Carl Supplee and Harold L. Bauer.

578 Attend Anniversary Of Casualty Company

A convention marking the 25th anniversary of the Harleysville Mutual Casualty company was attended by 578 employees and their wives from eight states who met yesterday afternoon at Sunnybrook.

Ezra Markley, Zieglerville, company president, made an address outlining the history of the company since its founding, while Arthur A. Alderfer, Harleysville, secretary, drew a picture of the future of the firm.

The Rev. C. H. Rahn, of Temple, delivered a talk in a humorous vein.

Awards were made to 10 employees for their work in the sales campaign conducted by the company from the past June 1 to Sept. 1.

Among the Pottstown area residents attending were S. Wagner Evans, 410 Hwy. street; Robert W. Evans, 236 Walnut street; and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pennypacker, Parkerford.

Two Church Parish To Construct Home To House Minister

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Sassamansville, affiliated with St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran church, Gettysburg, at present without a pastor, due to the absence of a suitable home in the area that would serve as a parsonage has taken steps to overcome this present obstacle.

St. Paul's members at a congregational meeting, decided to follow in the footsteps of the Swamp Lutheran church, New Haver, and St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Lonsdale, in securing a suitable parsonage.

The congregation authorized its church council to erect a new home, not to exceed $9000, which would serve as a parsonage for both St. Paul's and St. Luke's. This was in preference to any further effort, so far futile, to purchase some dwelling and remodel it to meet the requirements for a parson.

Following this action on the part of St. Paul's one of the members of the congregation announced the gift of a tract of land suitably located, as a site for the proposed new building.

Furthermore, members of the congregation have offered to do as did the members of the Lobsachville congregation, namely, give of their skill, time and labor in the construction of the house. That is what members of the Swamp church, where their building is in the course of construction, are now doing.

It was not an unusual sight to see Rev. Luther Lee Lengle, pastor of St. Paul's church, to be at the shaft end of a loaded wheelbarrow, engaged in wheeling stones or supplies to workers on the building erected along Route 73, near the general store at Pleasantville, and into which the minister and his family moved a few days ago.

The action of the Sassamansville church folks left no necessity for any parsonage action by St. Luke's members, following their well-attended communion service, Sunday evening, at which Rev. Melvin Kurtz, retired, of Norristown, officiated. He aided in the establishment of St. Luke's congregation.

AROUND THE WORLD THROUGH CAMERA'S EYE

TEMPORARILY ADOPTED by Mrs. Helen Albrecht, Pittsburgh, Pa., when their mother was run over by an automobile, three baby squirrels discover that there's water in the kitchen sink and stop to investigate. Mrs. Albrecht believes they are now old enough to take care of themselves and will soon turn them loose in the woods again. (International)

CLEANERS IN GERMAN WHEAT FIELD—German city dwellers swarm over a freshly harvested wheat field near Helmstedt, in the British zone, picking up leftover grain by hand in an effort to ward off hunger.

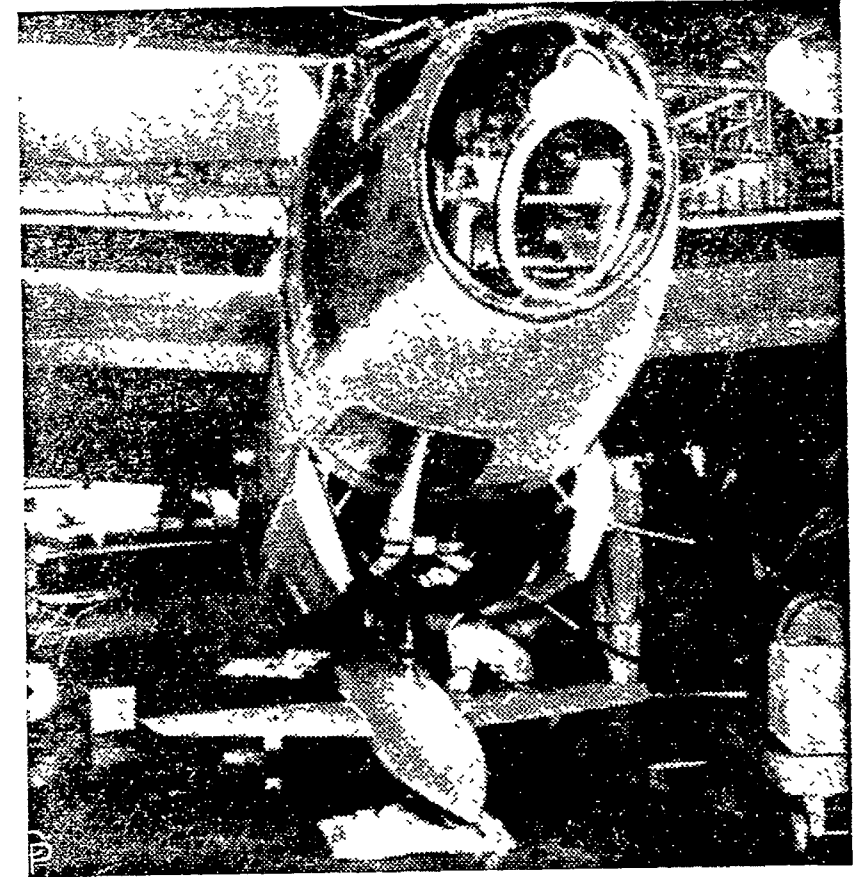

STATUARY CLEANUP—E. J. Burkitt, veteran of 16 years in the Royal Mews, cleans the gilt statue which surmounts the carved state coach used by the British king on ceremonial occasions.

HULA GIRLS DANCE and there is song, fun and laughter on the island of Tarawa, where U. S. Marines undertook one of the toughest assignments of the late war. Today the island is one of the brighter spots in the Pacific, as indicated by this picture taken by a News of the Day Newsreel cameraman who recently visited the islands and atolls where American troops battled on the "road to Tokyo." WORKERS ATTACH a tiny robot rocket plane to a Mosquito-bomber at St. Eval, England, before an attempt was made to gather supersonic data. The plane took the device aloft and released it at about 35,000 feet. It was estimated that the rocket attained a speed in excess of 800 m.p.h. before it plunged into the sea. Shortly after, it was revealed that U. S. ram-jet rockets had flown more than 1,500 m.p.h. in tests and had exceeded the speed of sound more than two years ago. (International)

GIANT CROWDS LIFT—Pedro Espiritu, employee of a Chicago hotel, registers amazement as Jack Earle, 8 foot 6½ inch giant, stoops to enter the seven-foot elevator.

Man Is Fined $10 On Speeding Charge

Despite his plea that he was at home at the time, Harry Cossaboon, Royersford RD, was fined $10 and costs at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Otto H. Moyer, Royersford, last night, on charges of operating a motor vehicle too fast for conditions, at Lewis road and Church street.

The alleged offense occurred Oct. 3, at 6:18 p. m., according to the information of the officer, Nicola Seiselo.

Cossaboon and Albert Bean, who resides at the same address, both testified Cossaboon was at home at the time and could not have been guilty.

Officer Seiselo, however, produced a statement signed by Roger Batten, attendant at a service station, that Cossaboon had been at the service station between 6 and 6:15 p. m. that night, and returned after 6:30 p. m. to have his gas tank repaired. Batten also appeared later as a witness and testified Cossaboon's car was there at the times mentioned in the written statement.

Youth Is Fined $10 For Disorderly Conduct

A fine of $10 and costs were imposed on Richard Esler, 18, of Royersford RD 1, on a charge of disorderly conduct, at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Otto H. Moyer last night.

The youth was summoned after several complaints he had caused unnecessary noise with his motor scooter, Oct. 13, at 10:35 p. m. The action was brought by Police Chief Bryson Turner.

GEORGE PUFKO

1200 ATTEND BIG PEP RALLY

Students Boost Spirit
For Today's Game,
Parade Through Streets

A large pile of wood, composed of everything from a fruit crate to a popsicle stick, burst into flame and faces of some 1200 persons lighted up as the Pottstown High school pep rally got underway last night at the Kiwanis playground.

The 1200 persons, mostly high school students, cheered, sang and did everything imaginable to get into the right spirit for the Pottstown-Phoenixville football game today. It was football atmosphere hanging over Kiwanis playground last night and everyone was happy.

The program started when William F. Lamb Jr. directed the Pottstown High band in a football song. Ed Kovach, former president of the Pottstown High Athletic association acting as master of ceremonies, then took over and gave a little talk.

The cheerleaders broke in and led a few cheers before Claude Reinhardt, former Trojan football player, made a few remarks. The big blonde-haired griddler talked about how poor the followers of the Trojans cheer for their team. He went on to say that the Trojans will need the fans in back of them today and urged everyone present to go to Phoenixville today and cheer for the Trojans.

More cheers followed and the fans' faces were filled with happiness. Eugene Williams Griffith spoke to the throng and wished that the fans would help the Trojans on to victory today for he would like to see a victorious team come back to Pottstown.

Coach Heber T. Meyers was unable to attend the rally but sent a note to the master of ceremonies who read the letter to the fans.

Eleven balloons, representing the starting Phoenixville team, were then tossed into the fire to hex the Phantom team. As Kovach read the name of each Phoenixville player, a balloon was thrown into the flames which reached about 30 feet into the air.

Following the rally at the playground, the fans formed a huge parade and staged a snake dance through the streets of Pottstown. Richard Keim, Irvin Swavely, Peter Roth and Henry Saylor were dressed in Trojan battle uniforms and led the parade in a jeep. The high school band followed and then came the fans. Some 600 students participated in the parade which wended its way down Manatwamy street to High, east on High to Franklin street, and then north on Franklin to Walnut. The parade turned west on Walnut and continued on to the high school.

Here, Lamb directed the band in the Pottstown alma mater and the fans ended festivities by singing their school song. The crowd was then dismissed until this afternoon when Trojan followers will do their cheering at the game.

9000 PERSONS EXPECTED AT GRID CONTEST

Phoenixville Foe Risks
Undeclared Record;
Dobry Named Starter

Despite a weather forecast of considerable cloudiness and scattered showers, an expected sellout crowd of 9000 fans is expected to watch Pottstown High's Trojans attempt to hand Phoenixville High its first grid defeat of the season today on Phoenixville's Washington Field.

The Phantoms, with eleven lettermen from the 1946 team, are rated at slight favorites over the Trojans, but the Pottstown combine has been preparing for a week to halt the Phoenixville grid machine and are sure to slow down the onrushing Purple and White gridders.

The Phoenixville eleven will be trying to avenge the 13-0 defeat handed them by the Trojans at Pottstown the past year before a throng of 9000 fans and the locals will be trying for their third win over the Phantoms in four years.

Coach Heber T. Meyers announced last night that Gerald Andes, Trojan fullback who was one of the co-captains of the Norristown game, will not be in uniform today because of an injured hip. The Trojan mentor revealed that Bobby "Chink" Dobry, a junior, would start in his place.

Meyers also announced that Don Wenrich, regular Pottstown center, would be back at his center position after recovering from a back injury. He will replace Dave Towers in the Trojan forward wall. The Trojan coaching staff said that there is a strong possibility that Gene Feack will start at right end instead of George "Fud" Rath. Should Feack start, he will be playing against his nephew, Dick Duracko, starting right end for Phoenixville.

The Trojans boast a good ground attack with four fast backfield men. Bobby Mauger is the starting quarterback and Melvin Howard and Dan Ludwig are the halfbacks. Dobry is also noted for his speed.

Meyers also announced last night that Ludwig and Bob Calvario, big 200-pound guard, were elected to serve as Trojan co-captains for the remainder of the season.

Falcons Seek First Victory At Pennsburg

Still trying to give West Pottsgrove its first victory since the Fall of 1945, Coach Bill Gohean last night announced that he would make quite a few changes in the Falcon lineup today when the West Pottsgrove combine travels to meet Pennsburg.

The Falcons have dropped three games already this season and will be looking for their first win today. The Falcons have improved their offense quite a lot the past week and Gohean expects to have his charges open with a deadly passing attack this afternoon.

Gohean made his first change in the left end position where he will start Sam DiGiosia instead of Mike Ferenz. Ferenz has been shifted to center but is expected to see action in the backfield as well.

At Stauffer, 6-foot, 4 1/2-inch lad, has been placed at the right end position and Dave Ecker will fill in at the tackle slot which Stauffer has vacated. Stauffer will be replacing Jess Baro.

Another big change in the lineup is at the quarterback spot where Gohean has put Joe Ciori in place of Ralph Basile. Ciori is expected to play practically the entire game today.

Steve Tackus, a junior, is Gohean's choice to fill Ciori's halfback position. The remainder of the backfield will be the same, Joe Dori at right halfback and Steve Sabo at fullback.

TOPPING KNEW MACPHAIL WAS QUITTING YANKS

Purchase of Larry's
Stock for $2,000,000
Agreed Upon on Sept. 18

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Larry MacPhail's sudden disposal of his stock in the New York Yankees at the conclusion of the World Series came as no surprise to Dan Topping and Del Webb, his former partners, as the unsuspecting general public was led to believe, after all.

No, sir. Topping and Webb had been aware of it for three weeks prior to MacPhail's announcement in the dressing room of the victorious Yankees, Oct. 7, immediately after the final out of the World Series. In fact, the deal for the purchase of Larry's stock was agreed upon by Webb and Topping on Sept. 18.

So said MacPhail today in a hurriedly called conference at his old Hollywood-styled office at the Yankee headquarters.

MacPhail also made public a receipt for $2,000,000, the amount he received by bowing out of the Yankee picture. The colonel, looking refreshed after a week's rest at his Bellaire cattle farm in Maryland, told newsmen that as a result of this agreement, his stock was retired by the corporation and he was paid out of the corporate funds. "Neither Mr. Webb nor Mr. Topping put up a single dollar of their own money to purchase my stock," he said.

MacPhail also punctured the rumors that he had retired under a cloud and that he and Topping had a falling out.

"My decision to retire from active management of the club was not influenced in the slightest degree by the commissioner of baseball (A. B. Chandler) nor Mr. Webb nor any other individual," he said. MacPhail could not refrain from giving himself a pat on the back for the Yankees fine financial showing during the three years he presided over the world champions.

Twin-Boro AA Meets Chester Foe Tomorrow

Twin-Boro AA eleven emerged from the hard battle at Burlington, N. J., Wednesday night in good physical trim for another hard struggle, to be staged on the home field at Lake View Memorial park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the Royersford-Spring City gridders will face Chester Bears. Practically the same men will perform at their respective posts as the home team will be striving for its sixth victory. The Chester outfit is rated a first-class club and will cause the Twin-Boro gridders to extend themselves all the way.

Injured Gridders Return To Norco Lineup, Team Set For East Greenville Today

With most of the injured lads on the road back to full recovery, the North Coventry Wildcats are again ready for battle. Today the Wildcats will be waiting for the invasion of East Greenville High school which is scheduled for 2 o'clock on the Norco field.

The Wildcats are once again beginning to click. With Tim Batdorf, captain and spark plug of the team, back in the lineup along with Johnny McElroy, the Norco combine appears to be one of the strongest teams in this area.

Wilmer Swinehart, Coach Bill Paolantonio's regular right guard, is about the only Norco griddler still on the injured list. Swinehart dislocated his shoulder in the first game and may be lost to the Wildcats for the remainder of the season.

Norco has won twice thus far this year while losing to Marlpenewtown. Paolantonio's charges dropped Collegeville, 30-0, and turned back Boyertown the past week by a 13-6 score. Marlpenewtown handed the Wildcats a 27-6 setback.

East Greenville has won two games and has lost the same number this year. The last time out, the Greenies were victorious over Collegeville.

Paolantonio will start the same eleven boys that he started in the Boyertown game. Ralph Rjesh will be left end, Wayne Mourer will be the left tackle and Bodolus will start at left guard. Joe Stavrosky will be the center. On the left side of the line, Don Rothenberger will be the guard, Kocheil will start at tackle and the end will be Evans.

Jim Orandosh will start at quarterback for the Wildcats, McElroy and Rupert will be the halfbacks and Batdorf will start at fullback.

Norco's Board of Strategy

North Coventry's head football coach, Bill Paolantonio (right), explains a bit of strategy he wants the Wildcats to use today to Captain Tim Batdorf (center) as Bill Giunta, assistant coach, looks on. The Wildcats will be looking for their third win of the season against East Greenville today at Norco.

Nether-Providence Eleven Downs Spring City Foe by 41-12 Score

Spring City high gridders, weakened by the absence of Jack Ludwig and Jim Dell, who were injured at Upper Merion Saturday, suffered their second defeat of the season at Nether-Providence yesterday afternoon, when the Delaware countians took a 41 to 12 victory.

Held scoreless the entire first half, Coach Gene Groff's boys displayed some power in the second half, pushing across a touchdown in each of the third and fourth periods.

In the third period Bill Thorum lunged at the line and scored from the five-yard stripe. Capt. Dick McKissic, big end, annexed the second touchdown in the last period, when he caught a long pass from Jim Rentschler and raced 30 yards to the end zone. The past year Spring City downed Nether-Providence 38 to 6 on the local gridiron.

Next week will be devoted to some careful planning for another expected stiff encounter with Marlpenewtown, to be played at Spring City, Saturday, Oct. 25.

Participating in the game for Spring City yesterday were Robert Wagoner and McKissic, ends; R. Miller and J. Reinmuth, tackles; Noel and Peterman, guards; A. Stauffer, center; Ray Davis, quarterback; Rentschler and Philip Carl, halfbacks; Thorum, fullback. Substitutions included D. Stauffer, Peiffer and Speakman.

OBITUARIES

ELISIE W. (WELLER) DREY, wife of Thomas M. Drey, of DOUGLASSVILLE RD 2, died in St. Joseph's hospital, Reading, late Thursday night, a week after she was admitted. Mrs. Drey would have celebrated her 51st birthday today.

A daughter of James F. and the late Sarah (Meyer) Weller, she was born in Berks county near Eastville.

She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Amityville, and of the Ladies of the Golden Eagle and PO of A, both of Amityville.

In addition to her husband and father, she is survived by two sons, Grant W. and Jacob W., of Douglassville RD 2 and two daughters, Mary, wife of Clauser Keeler, and Sarah, wife of Stanley Ponce, both of Douglassville RD 2.

Also surviving are two brothers, Frank and Amorose, Douglassville RD 2; two sisters, Elizabeth, wife of Henry Buile, 475 State street, and Mrs. William Carl, Lyons Station, and one grandson.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 112 North Washington street. Officiating will be the Rev. Paul J. Dundore, of Oliv.

Interment will be made in Amityville cemetery.

Funeral services for CHARLES MAURICE FRICK, husband of Elizabeth B. (Mest) Frick, of 69 WEST FIFTH STREET, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 112 North Washington street.

The Rev. Michael R. Schmidt, pastor of St. Paul's Reformed church, officiated. Interment was made in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Deceased were George Heydt, Charles Heist, S. Paul Seeders, William Witmer, Douglas Meyer and Harry Keeler.

Funeral services for JAMES DANIEL HEFFNER, Pottstown native, were held yesterday afternoon from a Philadelphia funeral home. Interment was made in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Mr. Heffner died Sunday night in his sleep at his home in PHILADELPHIA, where he had moved about 10 years ago after the death of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Heffner. Mr. Heffner was unmarried.

When he lived in Pottstown, he resided at 325 King street.

The strange secret of the one-way door

There is a famous painting called "The Light of the World." It shows Christ knocking at the door of a humble dwelling.

When the artist, Holman Hunt, completed it, a critic turned to him and said: "There is an error in your painting. You have forgotten to put a latch on the door."

"There should be no latch on that door," said the artist. "It is the door to the human heart. It can be opened only from within."

Sometime, during the next few days, there will be a knock on your door.

It will be a neighbor soliciting for your Community Chest and its Red Feather services. When he calls, we hope your door will open wide for him. We hope, too, you will open your heart and give generously.

It means so much to so many.
